

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

I walked in the world with the worldly.
I craved what the world never gave.
And I said: "In the world each ideal,
That shines like a star on life's wave,
Is wrecked on the shores of the Real,
And sleeps like a dream in a grave."

And I toiled on, heart-tired of the Human,
And I mused 'mid the mazes of men,
Till I knelt long ago, at an altar,
And I heard a voice call me. Since then,
I walk down the Valley of Silence,
That lies far beyond mortal ken.

In the hush of the Valley of Silence
I dream all the songs that I sing;
And the music floats down the dim
Valley.

Till each finds a word for a wing,
That hearts, like the Dove of the Deluge,
A message of Peace they may bring.

Do you ask me the place of the Valley,
Ye hearts that are hallowed by Care?
It lies afar between mountains,
And God and His angels are there;
And one is the dark mount of Sorrow,
And one the bright mountain of Prayer,
Abram Joseph Ryan.

NOVEMBER WEDDINGS

Bolling—Peppett.

The Daily Post of Sydney, Cape Breton has, in its issue of November 9th, the following interesting account of the Bolling-Peppett wedding which took place in the city of Sydney, Cape Breton, on the evening of November 8th.

"The principals in this happy event were Miss Suzie Peppett, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Peppett, one of North Sydney's most charming young ladies, a popular member in social circles, and Mr. Randolph Bolling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bolling, of Richmond, Va."

"The interior of the church was beautifully decorated, the shades of red from many lights, the incense, the ceremony, people present, the wedding, the ceremony, together with the many handsome gowns worn by the ladies, all blended together to lend especial charm to the scene."

"The bride, in the absence of her father, was given away by her sister, Mrs. Claude Peppett, and was magnificently attired in a gown of ivory and white duchesse satin, trimmed with feathers of Mechlin lace; a wedding veil and wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses."

"She was attended by her bridesmaids, Miss Etta Peppett, who looked handsome in a pale blue messaline silk over tulle, a black panne velvet picture hat, and who had a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. The groom was supported by Mr. T. D. A. Purves."

"The tiny flower girls, Miss Ruth Shattford, daughter of the rector, and Miss Marjorie Earle, daughter of Mr. Stanley Earle, looked sweet in dresses of pink silk and poke bonnets. Both the little ones carried bouquets of pink and white carnations."

"The marriage ceremony was performed by the rector, the Rev. Allan P. Shattford, assisted by the Rev. C. W. Vernon."

"During the service the choir rendered special bridal hymns, the wedding march being played by Mr. I. H. Angel. The ushers were Messrs. W. M. McCallum, C. D. Bertram, Welsford McKay and Dr. Stuart Carruthers."

"The groom's present to the bride was a unique pearl bracelet and pendant, the bride's, a pearl necklace. The favors to the flower girls were pearl and gold pins. Over five hundred invitations were issued. Many handsome and costly gifts were received by the happy couple from their many acquaintances."

"After the wedding ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bolling will leave to-night for Sydney, where they will remain until to-morrow, proceeding from there on a tour of the maritime provinces. When they return they will reside on Summer Street."

Ripley—Forbes.

The Washington Post of Sunday says: The wedding of Miss Edna Louise Forbes to Arthur Philip Ripley, of New York, will take place November 22d. The ceremony will take place at noon in the First Baptist Church and will be performed by the Rev. Dr. James B. Hawthorne, assisted by the Rev. Dr. McDaniel, pastor of the church. The bride will be attended by her sister, Mrs. Elmore D. Hotchkiss, as matron of honor. Mrs. Hotchkiss will wear a gown of pink chiffon cloth, hand-embroidered, pink chiffon hat, and will carry a French rose. Mr. Ripley will wear a tuxedo, and will act as best man, and the ushers will be Messrs. Wm. Crowe, of New York; Robert Cutler Lawrence, of New York; G. L. Booth, of Alexandria; I. Fell, E. Lyne, and Blanchard Forbes. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast will be served in the home of the bride, No. 806 West Franklin Street. Miss Forbes is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Whitwell Starling Forbes, and is one of Richmond's most charming society girls. The Forbes came to Virginia from North Carolina, and are closely identified with the social life of this city. Miss Forbes has recently returned from Atlanta.

By ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON.

TO be up and doing, O,
Unfearing and unshamed to go
In all the uproar and the press
About my human business!
My undisputed heart I hear
Whisper courage in my ear.
With voiceless calls, the ancient earth
Summons me to a daily birth.
Thou, O my love, ye, O my friends—
The gist of life, the end of ends—
To laugh, to love, to live, to die,
Ye call me by the ear and eye!

Forth from the casemate, on the plain
Where honor has the world to gain,
Pour forth and bravely do your part.
O knights of the unshielded heart!
Forth and forever forward!—out
From prudent turret and redoubt,
And in the mellow charge amain.
To fall but yet to rise again!
Captive? ah! still, to honor bright,
A captive soldier of the right.
Or free and fighting, good with ill?
Unconquering, but unconquered still!

Among the Clubs.

Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock Mrs. Tonia Hamilton presented to members of the lower continuously until 4 P. M., when the kill was made, about three miles north of Cohoke pond, in the woods. Too much cannot be said in praise of the splendid work done by the dogs, especially those of Mr. Trice's pack, Mr. (Sport) Livestock's "Music" and Mr. Haw's "Pointer," who, though somewhat advanced in years, held his own in gallant style.

All the field took off their hats to their two leaders, Mr. Trice and Mr. Haw, who are typical of the old-fashioned Virginia sort and fearless riders.

The pleasures of the chase were succeeded by the pleasures of the table, a splendid club dinner awaiting the hunters on their return, and making a most enjoyable ending to a long-to-be-remembered day.

Mr. Patterson, Mr. Trice and Mr. Snyder returned to Richmond Sunday morning. The Richmond gentlemen are still relating to their friends the incidents and experiences of the day.

If mothers and teachers will take pains to inform themselves on this subject, much could be done to prevent the spread of contagious diseases in the schools and elsewhere. A cordial invitation is extended to all teachers and to the members of the mothers' clubs.

STATEMENT MADE BY DR. J. N. UPSHUR

papers of the State. The fullest publicity will be given the matter.

Dr. Upshur's Statement.

The statement of Dr. Upshur, explaining the situation at this school is substantially as follows:
"It has been said that this meeting of the board was called on account of a letter written by a gentleman of Richmond. This is a mistake. The meeting was called on account of the fact that the board had been informed that the third class, which threatened that unless the food conditions were improved by Monday, the third class would withdraw from the institute."

"This communication constituted not only a breach of the regulations of the institute, but a breach of the regulations of the board, and was a direct violation of the institute's policy. The board, therefore, decided to call a meeting of the board on Monday, the third class would withdraw from the institute."

"That paper, being the outward expression of a combination and conspiracy, was a direct violation of the institute's policy. The board, therefore, decided to call a meeting of the board on Monday, the third class would withdraw from the institute."

Inspection of Food.
"Acting upon this condition Superintendent Shipps convened the board. Of necessity the board looked into the matter of food conditions, and also made an examination into the food conditions, which examination was thorough and searching. This examination revealed the fact that an abundance of good material was purchased, and the entire trouble was in the cooking. This was due to neglect on the part of the kitchen staff to have the food cooked and served properly, but because of a fire last spring that destroyed the kitchen and necessitated the use of temporary kitchen facilities, and on that account it is impossible to give the care to the cooking of meat that is desired by all interested."

The testimony of all parties concerned, including many cadets, was that the food served since the opening of this session, is certainly an improvement over that furnished in other sessions, in quality and in the manner of service. The regulations require a written report daily from the first captain as to food conditions. The officer in charge also makes an inspection each day. These reports are not made of any particular meal. The written reports are made a part of the record before the board.

"At the instance of Mr. Shields, of the board, committees of citizens were given permits by Superintendent Shipps to dine in the mess hall. These citizens were not confined to Rockbridge county, but a number of them came from outside. One, I think, was Mr. Harman, another was a resident of Baltimore, and a captain of the Fourth Regiment of the Maryland National Guard, and another was Mr. P. J. White, the Richmond architect. Mr. White had a son at the institute, and became alarmed over the reports of the reports sent to Lexington for the purpose of removing his son. Mr. White was so thoroughly satisfied as a result of his observation and the meal he ate, that he said he was contented to leave his son at the institute, and he was the best of care. The uniform opinion was to the credit of the conditions."

No Cause for Outbreak.
"The investigation of the breach of discipline developed the fact that there was no just cause in the food conditions for the outbreak, but was precipitated by the newspaper reports which expressed the boys with the idea that the public was behind them."

"It was also shown that only ten letters had been received by Superintendent Shipps from parents of cadets in reference to food condition. A letter was also produced from a Norfolk boy, an extract from a letter of whom had been published in the News-Leader, which stated that he left the institute on account of the food conditions. The letter read before the board that the food conditions had nothing to do with his leaving the institute, but that he left because he found his preparations were not sufficient to enable him to go on with his studies. As a matter of fact, not a single cadet left on account of food conditions. Fewer cadets, many fewer, have left the institute for all causes during the present session than in many years."

"The cadets who were heard by the board did not make a favorable impression. They were not admitted to the class understood it as a statement of authority between the third class and the authorities as to which should run the school. They also said that the class believed that by a combination of the corps and cadets could do anything they pleased."

"Hon. E. D. Flood, the congressman from the district in which the institute is situated, has a nephew in the institute, and spent Saturday there, using every effort with the class to make the cadets take the proper view of the situation."

Action of Cadets.

"After supper Saturday night the class held a meeting and reconsidered the matter that had been taken, and as a result of this meeting sent a statement to the board expressing regret for their action. It was signed by the president and vice-president of the class."

"This paper was presented to the board, which declined to receive it, upon the ground that it was not a statement of the class, but a statement of the president and vice-president of the class."

and considered. The board could not offer the recalcitrant cadets the paper to be signed, but would give such a paper if it should be requested. In a short time the committee of the class returned, asking for such a paper, which was then furnished.

"This was after taps, and the superintendent promptly issued an order giving permission to the committee to see their classmates. The committee returned later with the signatures of all members of the class but thirteen."

"This thirteen said they were thoroughly in sympathy with the expression of regret, but could not sign it, as in doing so, they would violate an oath they had taken."

The board informed the committee that this paper would stand upon the name of the board with regard to the signatures as individual papers which had already been received from State cadets. In regard to the thirteen who would not sign, the order of the board, in reference to dismissal, would stand. The committee who had presented the paper of regret then asked to withdraw it, saying they would stick to the class.

"The board remained in session until midnight, hoping the boys would think better of their action, but nothing further was heard from them."

Committee Appointed.

"Before leaving this phase of the matter, I wish it distinctly understood that before the end of the present session material will be on hand for building and thoroughly equipping a kitchen for the proper preparation and serving of food. It is the earnest desire of the board to make the conditions as good as possible, and to this end the board appointed a committee, consisting of Dr. J. N. Upshur, of Richmond (chairman), Mayor R. B. Brown, of Blue Ridge Springs, and Mr. T. R. Ransom, of Roanoke, all members of the board, giving them absolute authority to appoint a steward and a chef, laying emphasis upon the fact that they should be thoroughly competent and secured at the earliest time practicable. The steward is to have entire charge of the preparation and serving of food in the mess hall."

Given Ten Days.

"The tenor of the order passed by the board required the condition of the breach of discipline and directed that those cadets who desired to do so individually should have ten days in which to reconsider their action and express their regrets."

"All failing to do so in the time prescribed would be subject to dismissal under the regulations, and this penalty would be enforced. An order to this effect was issued."

"The responsibility for the infliction of this penalty rests solely upon the cadets themselves."

"It is to be earnestly hoped that they will not bring it upon themselves. No one can wish this more earnestly than myself, and it might be considered by them that the State pays their board and tuition, and that it is like taking money from one's pocket and placing it in another. The money made by the State through the mess hall is chiefly upon paper."

PARIS STRIKE TIES UP NAVAL CONSTRUCTION

Military Forces Are Being Concentrated to Preserve Order at the Ports.

(By Associated Press.)
PARIS, November 13.—The union of the government of the employees of the arsenal and dock yards at Toulon, Brest and other naval headquarters has ordered a general strike, beginning to-morrow. This threatens to seriously interrupt the naval construction programme. Military forces are being concentrated to preserve order at the ports. The strikers claim that liberty of ships is denied them by the dismissal of workmen, who criticize the naval administration.

The federation of government employees has issued an appeal to the employees of the post and telegraph department, the mint, military arsenals and tobacco and match and other State industries to give their moral support to the naval strikers.
